World Typology

Art of finding new facts and regularities in nature and human.

Since 2013, we have been working to have our typology of nature and people recognized as a separate field, independent of psychology. If facts are repeated over and over again, we are dealing with regularity and innateness. It’s something that can’t be changed.

Using the logical method, World Typology gives you consistent and ready-made information

The facts and recurring relationships of people are not amenable to change by psychologists or other professionals. That is why we have created for you this typology and system based on repetitive facts and logic. You can learn all the basics for free on this website. Some examples of topics covered:

✳

Relationships of groups and inherited types

Can't find common ground? Bullying, conflict or discrimination. How can this be typologically explained.

✳

Your nature and geographical places

Learn about which corners of the planet are suitable for you personally to live in.

✳

Your innate talents

What's your innate talent? Your experience may not be stronger than someone else's talent.

✳

Categories and human beliefs

Patriotism or individualism? Why people's beliefs are always different, superficial and stable.

✳

Cause of Alzheimer's disease

In 2020, we described what we saw as the logical cause of this disease. Free analysis for patients.

✳

Developmental and destructive

A free book on these qualities of people. About why some in the world build and others destroy.

For whom this typology is suitable

This site is a small encyclopedia for those who have not found the answer to why people's relationships are repetitive and different. It is also for those who want to learn something new about nature and human. And it is for those who are convinced that the help of other professionals has been unsatisfactory for their lives. This website is only for those who have some time to read and analyze in depth. The whole system is logical and divided into blocks:
